THE COLGATE HELLO

THE FIRST KNOWN PUBLISHED MENTION of the Colgate Hello was in the 1924-25 Colgate University Student Handbook, but the practice is still embraced today.

Be sure to keep up this simple tradition, wherever you are, by saying hello whenever you run into someone in Colgate gear. It will happen more often than you expect.

THE COMMONS

WHAT MAKES LIVING AT COLGATE SO UNCOMMON is what the University does to give first-year and second-year students something in common: a community within a community.

Beyond the hall in which they live, students belong to one of four residential commons, groupings that allow them to have support, make friends, and feel connected early in their college life.

This is part of how Colgate prepares people for life. Living in a close community means learning the skills of empathy, sociability, flexibility, and respect for others.

TORCH MEDALS

INSPIRED BY THE CLASS OF 2013 Senior Honor Society (Konosioni), this new tradition recognizes the impact of the Colgate community on students.

During senior year, each student receives a Torch Medal. They are invited to present these medals as an expression of gratitude to any faculty or staff member who has made a meaningful difference in their college experience.

LIFELONG ALUMNI COMMUNITY

MANY UNIVERSITIES HAVE PROUD and passionate followers, but the alumni of Colgate are famously loyal. The students of Colgate receive support from one of the most inspiring and successful groups of leaders in America. Colgate alumni provide mentoring, internships, and constant engagement with undergraduates, tailored to their areas of interest. Upon your graduation, you will become part of this community. The Office of Alumni Relations is dedicated to keeping you connected.

FIRST ENACTED IN 1930 under the guidance of the Alumni Association of the University, the Senior Torchlight Procession symbolizes the culmination of graduates' four years as students, under the guidance of the Alumni Association of the University, the Senior Torchlight Procession

ICONIC COLGATE SONGS

COLGATE'S TRADITIONAL MUSIC brings our community together. These are the songs that every Colgate student and graduate should know.

COLGATE, ALMA MATER

When through thy valley,
Fair Chenango twilight falls,
Bringing its silence
To our college halls;
In that happy moment,
Love for Alma Mater swells,
And the heart outpouring,
Of her glory tells:

(Chorus)

*Colgate, Alma Mater,
Fairest theme of all our lays!
Colgate! Alma Mater,
Ever blest, thy days.*

Far from thy valley,
Yearly rove thy loving ones,
Yet, in their dreaming,
E'er thy name returns;
'Tis the same fond spirit
Which the mem'ry lingers o'er
And our lips but echo
That old song of yore:

(Chorus)

*Colgate, Alma Mater,
Fairest theme of all our lays!
Colgate! Alma Mater,
Ever blest, thy days.*

FIGHT, FIGHT, FIGHT (COLGATE FIGHT SONG)

Sound of voices raised in joyous singing,
Colors proudly waving to the sky;
A host is drawing nigh, Just watch them,
They march and sing along a triumph song;
And this is what they sing.

(Chorus)

*Fight, fight, fight for dear old Colgate!
With Heart and hand now we'll win for thee!
Oh, we will fight, fight, fight for Alma Mater,
On to victory we're marching!
Foes shall bend their knee before us,
And pay their homage to pow'r so great,
So let us send out a cheer, and banish all fear,
While we are fighting hard for old Colgate.*

(Repeat Chorus)

COLGATE HYMN

Alma Mater, mother dear,
Reverently we raise.
To the guardian of our youth,
Grateful hymns of praise.
Robed in honor, crowned with light.
Radiant dost thou stand.
And thy love in every heart,
Rules with sweet command.

Alma Mater, mother true!
Loyal sons would we,
Strong in heart, with ready hand,
Give our lives to thee.
Noble, fair and wise art thou,
And thine influence pure.
With the grandeur of thy hills,
Ever shall endure.

1819

Long ago, in the valley of Chenango, gathered thirteen.
Funds were low, but abundant was their pluck, in eighteen-nineteen.
Thirteen prayers were said with rapt devotion,
Thirteen dollars set the thing in motion,
Thus began old Colgate University in eighteen-nineteen.

(Chorus)

*Live true to the memory of those thirteen men of yore.
Whose faith made tradition that shall live for evermore.
Whose deeds give us courage to strive as they strove then.
'Tis the spirit that is Colgate, dear mother of men.*

Up the hill, with profound determination, journeyed thirteen.
Ring of ax rent the silence of the woods in eighteen-nineteen.
Forest monarchs bowed to form a clearing,
Hymns triumphant blended with the cheering.
Thus began old Colgate University in eighteen-nineteen.

(Repeat Chorus)
